REPORT

On 24th July 2017 Staff Academy organised a lecture on "Hemadpanthi Temples in Marathwada" in the Audio-Visual Classroom No. 4, from 2:30 pm to 3:15 pm.

The academy invited eminent resource person Prof. K. S Ban, Associate Professor and Head of the History Department to address the audience on the topic. His focus was on the important characteristics and cultural importance of Hemadpanthi Temples in Marathwada region. The resource person Mr. K.S. Ban was welcomed by Mr V.S. Doke, Head, Department of Political Science. In his speech the resource person discussed various characteristics of Hemadpanthi temples not only in Marathwada region but in other parts of the states. But his prime focus was on the temples of Marathwada region which is our cultural heritage. He also pointed out the structural aspects of the temples in the region.

He said that the Hemadpanti style of architecture is named after the Prime Minister in the Yadava Dynasty of the 13th century. It is used widely in the historical sites located in the Marathwada region. As the blackstone is readily available in this region, it is widely used in the construction purpose. Lime is used instead other mortar. This style of temple architecture is found in other parts of Maharashtra as well. The shrine of Tulja Bhavani (Tuljapur), Narsimha Temple (Partur). Aundha Nagnath temple (Hingoli) are some of the prominent examples of this style. Its impact is visible in non religious structures as well. This is why we can see its impact on the mosques, palaces and forts as well.

The lecture was well attended by teaching and non-teaching staff and students of the college. Dr. D.S Salunke Vice Principal of the college, Dr. M.S Kharat, Professor and Head of the Marathi Department Dr. B.G. Lone, Professor and Head of the Physics Department were also present for the programme.

The programme came to end with a vote of thanks proposed by Dr. S.K. Rathod.
