Lecture on 'Student Charter' by Dr. Dadasaheb Salunke
29-09-2017

Dr. Dadasaheb Salunke, IQAC Coordinator, talked on 'Student Charter' on 29-09-2017. He opened his lecture by giving a brief background about NAAC, its Vision and Mission and Functions. He said that the expansion of higher education in India also gave rise to a host of quality concerns. Therefore, the NAAC A&A assumes importance. According to him Student Charter is an important documents. There are two parts of the charter:

A: An institutions responsibilities towards its students

Here the HEI has to communicate vision and mission to the students and should offer programmes that help realize the mission. The feedback has to be obtained and used for improvement. As teaching-learning is the soul, it is to be monitored effectively. The HEI has to monitor the student progression. The assessment mechanism should be fair and impartial. The rules and regulations are to be delivered to the students in clear language. The HEI has to provide required support to the students. Efforts are also required to instill values in the students.

B: Students responsibilities of learning

He commented that it is the duty of the students to appreciate the institutional vision and mission. They must read the rules and regulations and code of conduct policy. The students should also make optimal use of the study material and other academic support facilities. The feedback system is important and they have to give candid feedback. A student has to learn continually. After having secured employment he has to be in touch with the institute. At the end Prof. M. L. Sonawane proposed the vote of thanks.
