Lecture on 'Role of Youth in Water Management' Mr. Amey Pawar (27-12-2018)

REPORT

Mr. Amey Pawar, Extension Officer, Panchayat Samiti, Vaijapur, guided the students about the ways to contribute in water management. Nanasaheb Bhimraj Shinde, B. Com. I, welcomed and introduced the resource person.

He said that water management has assumed importance in the modern times because water demand has increased by many times. The number of urban centres has gone up and they need more fresh water. He said that as the population increases, the natural resource like water comes under pressure. The UN has warned that by the middle of 21st century about 4 billion people will be seriously affected by the water scarcity.

He asked the students the following questions: Do you get adequate water for household use? Is the water clean and potable? Do you get adequate water throughout the year? Do you face water shortage? When do you face water shortage? Do you pay for water? Do you use water economically? Do you know about water management?

After having received different answers to the above questions, he concluded that water management is very important in rural and urban settings. He said that we have limited amount of water in Vaijapur tehsil. This tehsil is categorized as the drought-prone area. December-May are critical months. He said whenever he visits the villages, he sees that the women and even small children walk miles for fetching water.

He said that the young people are full of innovative ideas. Rainwater harvesting is something that you can implement in your village. We can collect store rain water that falls on the roofs of the houses. Usually, let this water run off. We can redirect it to tanks, deep pits, boreholes, reservoirs etc. Mr. Pawar told the students that building ponds has been a classical method. The young people can build such ponds around the farm. Rainwater gets accumulated and slowly percolates below the earth's surface. This is a method of recharging ground water. Drip and sprinkler irrigation is another area that we must explore.

Mr. Amey Pawar informed the students that the rainfall is scarce in our tehsil and so we should water resources economically. It is wrong to follow the traditional free flow irrigation. He said that most of the students come from the villages where water scarcity is a burning and critical issue. Drinking water is supplied to many villages through tankers at least for eight months. This situation will change. Students can change crop pattern. They could turn to horticulture too. Chetan Vijay Shinde, B. Com. I, proposed the vote of thanks. Digambhar Popatrao Aswale, B. A. I, conducted the proceeding.
